

E|One Certified Installers

The following businesses have sent personnel to the E|One Certified Installer training. When contracting with them make sure that the personnel they put on your job have been certified. Only people get certified, not the business entity.

The following list is in alphabetical order. Franconia Sewer Authority does not recommend one company over another as they are all quality contractors.

This list of certified installers includes the companies that have employees who've been certified to install the E|one pumps. The pump manufacturer has agreed to provide an additional three-year guarantee on top of their normal two-year guarantee for those installers that have taken the manufacturers course and agree to install the pumps in accordance with their requirements. Those certified contractors are on the above list.

Note: you may use your contractor to install the pump and make the required connections. If they are not certified, however, you will not receive the extended warranty on the pump.

Regardless of which installer you choose, the installation must meet Township requirements and will be inspected by both the Township (electrical) and the Authority (plumbing) before being allowed to be put into service.
